

Christmas in Britain

Christmas crackers

Christmas crackers are usually given during Christmas dinner.

They are pulled apart by two people,
inside there is a small present or a toy.

They are great fun for kids and adults.

Christmas dinner

On Christmas day, people eat roasted turkey and vegetables, especially Brussel sprouts, carrots, and potatoes. Christmas pudding is always served as a dessert.

Christmas presents

Santa Claus leaves presents in the stockings.

People open their presents on Christmas Day.

Children leave out mince pies for Santa Claus.

Christmas decorations

People usually decorate their houses with balls, candles and mistletoe.

Christmas carols

The most popular Christmas songs and carols are:

Queen's Christmas message

All British families always watched Queen's Elizabeth Christmas message. However, this year it will be different. The new king, Charles III, will give the message for the first time.

Boxing Day

Boxing Day is a special day just after Christmas. If the 26th of December is a Saturday or a Sunday, the official day is on next Monday.

On Boxing Day, people go shopping. British people have a big meal with the family.

Christmas wishes

Wishing you all, a very mery Christmas, full of joy and happines.
